JOHN ATTANAS

John Attanas has been teaching since 1997. He is a graduate of the High School of Performing Arts (now known as the LaGuardia High School of Music and Performing Arts), holds a B.F.A. and M.A. degrees from New York University, a M.A. from Queens College, and a M.F.A. from the City College of New York.

He is the published author of one novel and two biographies for young people, and of many other books waiting to be published. He has had numerous plays produced in New York since 1989. Recently he has been publishing poetry in small journals both online and in print.

John is proud to be part of the GAI family, where he has taught since 2004.

